Features Key:

A story that will let you experience the fighting part.
A stage that will force you to compromise between different special abilities.
AI that will answer your questions and start a conversation with you.

Game description

The time has come. The world is in turmoil. The battle of life and death has begun. The Last Element is now a competitor which will try to survive in a world where the forces of nature and emotion rule.

As it has already been hinted in the previous parts of the campaign, the Last Element will be very modular and you will be able to influence some parts by changing other options. This means that you can have a "pure" survival game with just hardcore fighting and no dialog and at the same time, you can use special skills to become more efficient and even gain special benefits. This game was always planned to be a game with a living world, so there will be special moments when a natural disaster or a different event will force the player to explore new parts of the map while solving the situation from another angle.

Visual overview of the game.

The environment consists of a village with a main courtyard. Player's home can be easily reached from the main entrance. There is a large entrance gate on the north and 3 side gates on the other sides. The village can be surrounded by farms and a forest. Character interaction will be possible only through entering the village.

Town will have its own environment, so you can spawn in different places where the village is not present. Most of the interior works will be done by colliding with objects with the implemented physics engine and the village will have its own weather and seasons. That's not all, the main goal is to build 2 huge towers (4 episode game) and fill them with narrative content.

Main gameplay elements

- A story which will drive you from the beginning to the end of the adventure, where you will fight your way through challenges that will force you to play using different approaches.
- Several weapons. Each weapon type (sniper, archer, military, police, doctor) will have a unique feature. For example, the sniper will have

The first in the series of testaments of the invention of the automobile is the story of a young man who started out in 1903 as a farm boy from West Chester, Ohio. What gets people talking in the field, perhaps, is that at age 15, he and his best friend Carl were given a Model T Ford by his father for their birthday. Neither one of them knew anything about a car except what they had heard from the mill owner who had used a tractor to pull his heavy lumber truck back and forth to his place of business.
