“The earliest stages of Rodent People: Origins (later named Rodent People: The Curse) started a year ago. I thought I’d share my research, thoughts, and experience with other DIY creators... including you. I grew up in the 90’s which was a time of cheap and plentiful games. To this day, I’ve never seen a PS1 or a 360. So, for about 3 years, I wasn’t able to experience any of those “gold-era” games. Then, about 7 years ago, I was introduced to the fascinating world of modding and DIY development. While visiting my mother, I picked up an old copy of the game The Last Express. It was also in English, which means I was able to read the manual. I learned so much, that I decided to try my hand at modding the original game. It’s been a challenge, but it’s also been a lot of fun. I started small and stepped up to big projects. Now, I’m thinking of making a series of games. One will be Rodent People: The Curse.”

Being a part of the world of overclockers, we had a lot of experience with the XTX, a potent red power gaming mouse. And so, when another mouse called the One GX Pro has come out, I naturally had to get it. Let’s take a look at it. Like many of you, I was aware that the One GX Pro was going to be much more than an ordinary gaming mouse. It’s a gaming mouse that seeks to provide comfort, ease of use, and elegance in one sleek package. For a cool $110, what do you get? Constructed with a patented polymer frame, the One GX Pro is designed to be collapsible, easily portable, and create the perfect balance between functionality and elegance. When opened, the One GX

Pro sticks out about an inch with a high-resolution 60-gram sensor, which allows you to perform precise, fluid movements. When closed, it's about a half-inch tall and slightly thicker at the top to fit comfortably under a mouse pad. One GX Pro comes with a USB cable (the mouse also includes a USB adapter and a USB to 2xAA adapter) as well as a USB charger. The charger

The story regarding the death of Amaterasu was always a famous story, which was composed by King of Japan and East in the Nara Period (729-784). The face was drawn by Suika Kaminobu and the script was written by Gust. Music was composed by Noboru Yamaguchi. Animation was made by Clumsy Ninja and Kinema City. About My Games: Empire Total War: World War Two is the first in a long line of Total War titles and is regarded as the spiritual successor to Creative Assembly's grand strategy franchise which began in 1999 with Shogun 2, still the spiritual successor to Emperor series and Dawn of War While the new game features numerous new game features that have never been seen before in Total War games, the biggest new feature is the Combat Mission feature which gives a sense of the real time battle and gives a much more accurate representation of war. There are also many game mechanics that change from the Total War series such as now you can control your army from the campaign side and from the battle map and take control of individual units on the battlefield. Other features include being able to pre-order real time events such as battles, unit and armys, leadership missions and much more so that you can experience war from the ground up. "Animal Crossing" is one of the most popular family-oriented titles. It has been consistently drawing a huge audience all around the world. The game is a basic premise where you wake up in a remote village surrounded by lush greenery. Your life is simple as it is with the peaceful village lifestyle, cooking and all. With that said, you will have to start a new life and look for ways to sustain yourself with your bare hands. If you live there long enough, you will surely witness all sorts of animals roaming around the village. They have a habit of befriending you, and it is your job to befriend them and use them for your benefits! The player will take on the role of an animal, one of them being a cat, a dog, or a lizard. You will be able to interact with other villagers in order to utilize their unique characteristics for the benefit of your village. If you feel the need to get tough, you can venture out into the wilderness and engage in fights against other animals of the same species. While a certain level of strategy is required when facing the wild beasts, all you need is a sharp mind and plenty of determination. Your interaction with other villagers can only be done one at a time. When your health goes down, the likelihood of an accident or a car mishap occurring will increase. This can also be a factor for the villagers to not interact with you. That is why it is important to carry health items with you, such as carrots. You can see the growing interest for animal crossing with the release of New Leaf, and Animal Crossing: Happy Home Designer. About: "Mad Arms" is a challenging weapon defense game! The action begins as the official "Donkey Kong Country" team, DK and Diddy Kong, are returning home. A small package, similar to a fragile case or a suitcase, lands on the doorstep of DK and Diddy Kong's house. DK opens the package and discovers a strange masked man with a whip. The masked man then proceeds to attack and injure DK and Diddy Kong. Although they are prepared to fight back, they seem helpless against the masked man and are taken away by him. Join DK and Diddy Kong in rescuing Donkey Kong and other animals from different crazy locations by solving puzzles

Arteista Arkshot is one of the most exciting contemporary bass DJs, live acts and event promoters in Australia. New to Arkshot, where do you come from? I'm from Adelaide and originally from England. Where does the Arkshot name come from? I started Arkshot in November 2013, through an impulse; it was something I had on my mind for years and I wanted to do it. I didn't expect the reaction it has had, or the sound that it has. Your playing, the Arkshot sound, has become increasingly relevant to our parties in Australia and abroad. Where has this been flagged for?It started in the backyard, with friends of mine who are also DJs, then it got bigger and then the word spread. I've kept it pretty raw and dirty, and it's become much more of a party style with me, which I wanted it to be. This is the first official Arkshot gig you are taking us to personally. How do you feel like this?I have a lot of love for the people of Melbourne. I want to give something back to the city where I live and worked, and not only play there, but take everyone on a tour. How do you search for music to play?I'm a buy more than play type of guy. I don't listen to all the massive labels or download all the huge artists. I want interesting music that moves people and represents a more free sound. Sometime you present very unique, different, edgy and powerful parties that are difficult to describe. What do you look for in your music to play?I don't play stuff I don't like. If I do I might seem like a psy and my DJing would not have a point. I don't write down what I like. It's all in my head to me. What is your connection to Melbourne?I've been here for two years. I worked in live events and have played here every night, which is great. With The Urbanists I've got a best friend and we all know each other, which is important, especially in a city. The Urbanists presented me with my first Australian party. My experience of playing in Melbourne led to me promoting and booking Arkshot, and then

I have a client that is currently working on a project that uses PhoneGap to load their app on the devices. They've just informed me of a great feature (Networked Push Notifications) in PhoneGap and I wanted to see if they could just use Cordova to add this feature. My main reason for wanting to do this is that they already have an application for iOS and Android in Cordova and the difference of re-writing the networked push notification logic would be pretty small. If I use this route will it be challenging to support other platforms, especially if I ever want to release to the Play Store
