The test have to return a constant message if the test fail. I have already created a version for Windows XP (on which is running the test) but I have to test on Windows XP (SP2), Windows 2000, Windows XP (SP1) and Windows Server 2000. To do that I have created 4 test projects (4 test dll) that will contain the app to be tested. I was thinking about write a method that check which Windows is running and if it is XP I run the other dll. Here I'll explain better my situation: If the app is running on Windows XP (SP2) and Windows 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows XP (SP1) and Windows 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows XP (SP1) and Windows 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows XP (SP2) and Windows 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows 2000 and Windows Server 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows 2000 and Windows Server 2000 then I print a constant message If the app is running on Windows 2000 and Windows Server 2008 I will have to print a
